

Corporate Team
Building
Bouldering Events

Contents

- Who are CORE?
- What is bouldering?
- What do we do at corporate events?
- What does my team leave with?
- When can we do it?
- What does it cost?
- Where is it?
- Why would I choose bouldering for my next event?
- Why CORE?
- How do I book?

Who are Core?

Core is a new bouldering specific gym facility on the Gold Coast. We are a new company built from enthusiastic corporate climbers. The founder and manager Oliver Gilmartin started the gym because he was frustrated with having to travel 55 minutes to the nearest gym with family in tow, to go Bouldering. Core was born to be able to offer the joy of bouldering in the proximity of the Gold Coast. Our primary function is to serve individual groups, family hobbyists and enthusiasts and leverage the bonding experience of bouldering in our corporate events for you and your team.

What is bouldering?

Bouldering was once a niche training activity within a niche sport. It was a method for climbers to develop strength and power and continue to climb without having to use a harness. Now the sport has taken on a life of its own, independent of that of traditional climbing and has become the fastest growing sector of one of the most enjoyable exercise activities you are likely to experience. It also has unique community and team building qualities, as solving climbs isn't just about strength, but also about how.

What do we do at Corporate Events?

Corporate events are about two main things, teamwork and bonding. Bouldering naturally creates a great community environment with everyone offering his or her opinion on how to solve the "problem" (bouldering term for climb). Core goes that extra hold by custom creating 5 special routes for you and your team.

- Route 1 - "Learn to Climb"
- Route 2 - "The Puzzler"
- Route 3 - "Lean on Me"
- Route 4 - "Partners in Climb"
- Route 5 - "Through the Leader's eyes"

All our special climbs aim to produce a team-oriented sense of support and a fun enjoyable workout. We will also provide a team member for clues and coffee/refreshments to keep the engines running during the sixty-minute event.

Warning this attire may not Suit. ;)

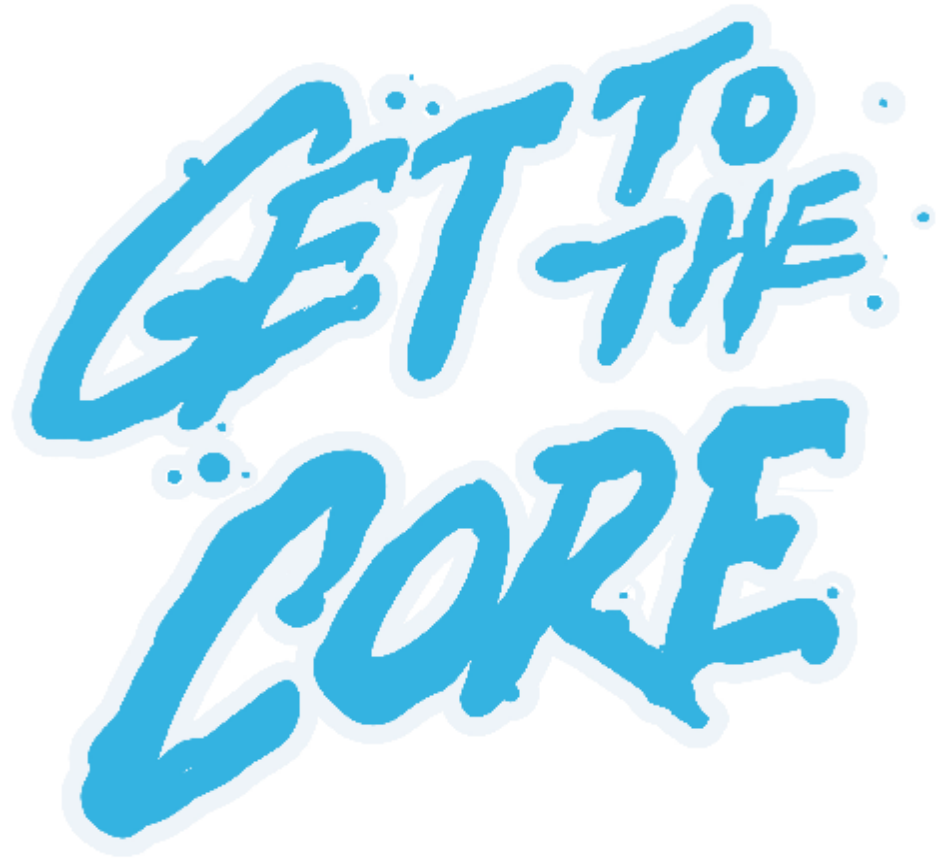

What does my team leave with?

You must mean other than a ridiculous sense of accomplishment and closer ties to those they work with... Ok, in all seriousness whilst we like to have fun, we take corporate days seriously, as they are purpose driven. When your day is done, we will provide you with a group photo to commemorate the event. We will also provide you with a wrap up package detailing what types of climbs you did, an honorary chalk bag for the team member voted most likely to annoy gravity and a free week pass to every attendee. Of course on top of this you have the rest of our facilities to climb to your hearts content for the remainder of the day.

When Can We Do It?

Organising it is easy. We can run the events after work or during the day. If you want the solo experience and that means only you and your team in the gym for the 2 hour event, then this is a morning job booked at 9.30am Monday to Friday. Here you have free run of the gym and choice of music too (Ooh time for some...?).

GET TO THE CORE

What Does It Cost?

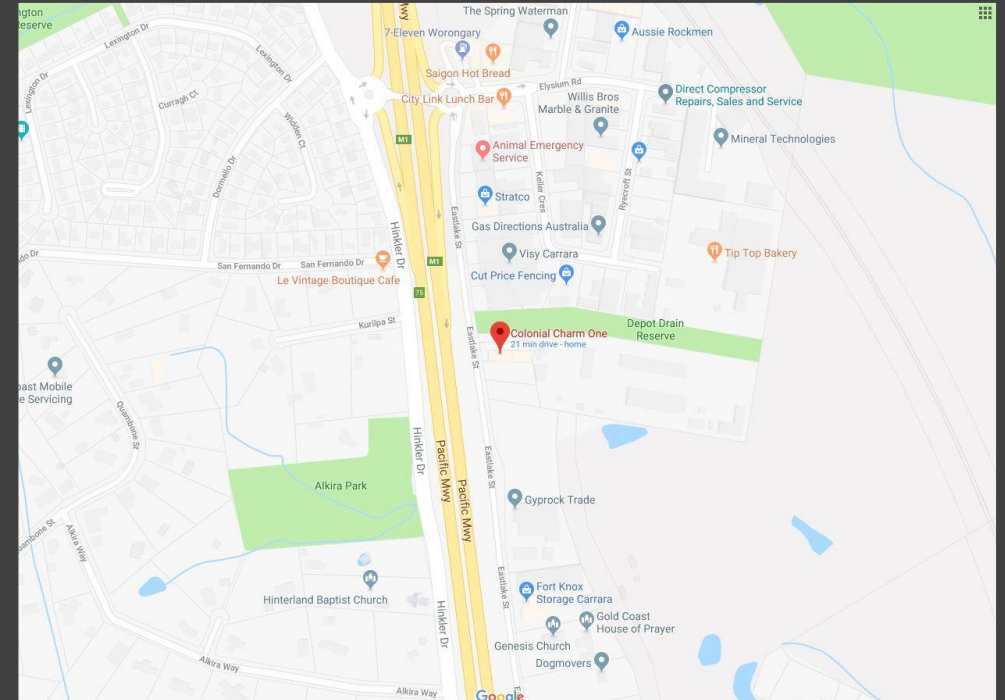

Corporate events are charged per person and obviously we are going to tell you the more the merrier, so you don't just bring your "Core" team.

Pricing is dependent on how you want to do it. If you visit in trading hours, it's $45p/p with a minimum of 6 people. If you want the private experience and the gym to yourself then it is dependent on time and day.

Where is

We are located at 122 Eastlake Street
Carrara 4211

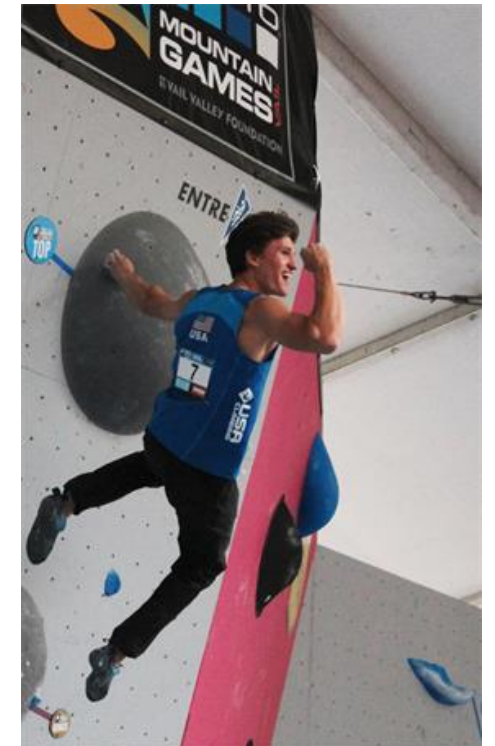

Take exit 75 from Pacific Mwy

Why would I choose bouldering for my next event?

Because small or big we all want to climb higher and never is this more achievable than in a bouldering gym.

As you work with your team at Core and you feel the surge of endorphins from the exercise you are doing and the sense of accomplishment in 'sending' that difficult problem, your team, like any climber, will want to share their joy and this is what we endeavor to engrain at Core.

The background features a large, textured ring in shades of green and blue, resembling a planet or a climbing rope, set against a black background. Overlaid on this are several overlapping circles in white and light gray. The text is positioned within these circles.

Why CORE?

You could say this is the central question... At Core we are passionate about climbing, but we come from a corporate background and we understand the importance of team synergy and mutual respect. Climbing has this natural community element to it and any exposure to this valuable. When specifically engaged in activities designed by Core this will trigger positive psychological change and there are few activities that convert this sense of achievement.

CORE CLIM

How do I book?

It couldn't be easier... well it could, but it's still simple. Just email us through an enquiry at team@coreclimbing.com.au and we will contact you to organise the details like participant numbers and time, right then and there.

We really do hope to see you and look forward to helping your team engage with one and other to create the best workplace possible.

Because with teamwork
the team works.

Opening on Global Climbing Day 24th
August 2019

Coming soon Australia's first Kilter Board